HARLOW, BRYCE N.: Papers, 1953-1961

Pre-Accession
Processed by: RWD

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This file contains correspondence, memoranda, speech draft and some publications. The file pertains to the activities of Bryce N. Harlow¹ and falls into two general categories:

1. Liaison between the White House and Congress and between the White House and the Executive Departments and Agencies.
2. Drafting speeches.

The above categories are further reflected in Mr. Harlow's assignments in the White House. On February 3, 1953 the White House announced the appointment of three special assistants to deal with liaison and legislative work with members of Congress and legislative officers of the Executive Branch. They were Homer H. Gruenther, Bryce N. Harlow and Gerald D. Morgan. They were to work with Wilton B. Persons, Special Assistant to the President.²

Mr. Harlow succeeded Emmet J. Hughes, who was in charge of drafting the President's speeches, when Mr. Hughes resigned on September 24, 1953. His new title was Administrative Assistant. He was sworn into office October 24, 1953.³

In a memorandum to Bryce Harlow from the President dated December 4, 1954, Mr. Harlow was given additional duties. It was indicated that two years previously Governor Val Peterson had accepted the post as Administrative Assistant for Liaison between the White House and Executive Departments and Agencies. When later he became administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, this responsibility was dispersed among various staff members. The memorandum indicated that these liaison duties were to be again centralized and asked Mr. Harlow to assume these duties in addition to his present duties.⁴

¹ The only documents that apparently were not those of Bryce Harlow were those of Emmet Hughes contained in a few folders in Box No. 26.

² Files of White House Press Release Section, Press Release dated Feb. 3, 1953.

³ White House Central Files Subject Index, Harlow, Bryce.

When Major General Wilton B. Persons filled the post of Assistant to the President, upon the resignation of Governor Sherman Adams in September 1958, General Persons' former duties were delegated to other staff members. Mr. Harlow was to take over General Persons' Congressional liaison work. He was sworn in as Deputy Assistant to the President for Congressional Affairs October 25, 1958.⁵

Mr. Harlow remained on the White House Staff until the end of President Eisenhower's second term.⁶

The File is divided into two components. The first component refers principally to liaison activities and is divided into three series. The first series consists of folders containing material on Defense Department reorganization. Following are two series of records in folders, each series arranged alphabetically by Executive Branch Department or Agency, or subject.

The second component relates to speech drafts and is arranged by speech in chronological order.

⁵ White House Official Files, OF 72-A-2 Harlow, memo dtd. Oct. 23, 1958 Minnich to White House Staff.

⁶ Who's Who in America, Vol. 32, 1962-63, p. 1311. Item on Bryce Harlow refers to Mr. Harlow's tenure on White House Staff as 1953-61.
