

THE PRESIDENCY AND GOVERNMENT

Foreign Relations of the United States (FRUS)

<http://digioll.library.wisc.edu/FRUS/>

This is a series of volumes published by the State Department. The University of Wisconsin has posted most of them on the internet, including most, if not all, of the ones for the Eisenhower administration.

Public Papers of the Presidents

<http://www.presidency.ucsb.edu/ws/>

This contains all of Eisenhower's speeches and press conferences, as well as a select number of executive orders, signing statements and proclamations. The online version is hosted by the University of California, Santa Barbara.

State Department Office of the Historian

<http://www.state.gov/r/pa/ho/>

For lists of ambassadors to specific countries, information about visits by heads of state, foreign travel by the President and Secretary of State

Federal Judicial Center

<http://www.fjc.gov/history/home.nsf>

This site offers sources relating to the history of the Federal courts including biographies of the judges, administrative histories of the branches of the court system, information on landmark judicial decisions and other information.

Congressional Biographies

<http://bioguide.congress.gov/biosearch/biosearch.asp>

Official biographies of members of Congress

MILITARY HISTORY

Naval History and Heritage Command

<http://www.history.navy.mil/>

The official site for the history of the U.S. Navy, this site has a number of online resources for the time period ranging from World War II through the end of the Eisenhower Administration this site includes information on ship histories (Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships), photographs and videos. They also provide researchers with information on their holdings for remote and onsite research.

Eisenhower Communiqués

<http://lib.byu.edu/digital/eisenhower/>

Posted online by the Harold B. Lee Library at Brigham Young University, this site includes the Daily Battle Communiqués issued by the Communiqué Section, Public Relations Division of the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force Europe (SHAEF), relate the daily progress of the Allied campaign in Europe from D-Day on June 6, 1944 until the German surrender on May 7, 1945

U. S. Army Center of Military History

<http://www.history.army.mil/>

The official site for the history of the U.S. Army, this site hosts a wealth of online resources such as historical photographs, publications and unit history information

Army War College Library--Carlisle Barracks, U.S. Army History and Education Center

www.carlisle.army.mil/library/library\_information.htm

<http://cdm16635.contentdm.oclc.org/cdm/compoundobject/collection/p16635coll9/id/5126/rec/1>

The online military history documents hosted at the Army War College's History and Education Center include photographs, finding aids to their collections, reference bibliographies, Army manuals and publications, and manuscripts. The second link below is to a bibliography of unit histories available in their collections.

Hyperwar: World War II on the World Wide Web

<http://www.ibiblio.org/hyperwar/>

An outstanding set of links to including British and American official histories of select campaigns and theaters. This online versions of these books are complete with the full text along with illustrations and maps. Of particular interest to Eisenhower is:

Pogue, Forrest C. United States Army in World War II: European Theater of Operations. The Supreme Command

<http://www.ibiblio.org/hyperwar/USA/USA-E-Supreme/>

Harrison, Gordon A. United States Army in World War II: European Theater of Operations. Cross-Channel Attack

<http://www.ibiblio.org/hyperwar/USA/USA-E-XChannel/index.html>

United States Army Women's Museum

<http://www.awm.lee.army.mil/>

Located at Fort Lee, Virginia, this museum honors women's contributions to the Army from the Revolutionary War to the present and hosts photographs, brief historical articles, and information about their collections on the web site.

Air Force Historical and Research Agency

<http://www.afhra.af.mil/documents/index.asp>

The Air Force Historical Research Agency is the repository for Air Force historical documents. Their web site contains organizational history information for Air Force and AAF units, finding aids to collections, information about oral histories, and some online photographs of Army Air Force units in WWII.

Veterans History Project, Library of Congress

<http://www.loc.gov/vets/>

The Veterans History Project of the American Folklife Center collects, preserves, and makes accessible the personal accounts of American war veterans. Their web page offers a searchable database of veterans with information in the project. Some of the projects include links to online material. There is also a list of other veterans' oral history projects.

ADDITIONAL ONLINE RESOURCES

United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

www.ushmm.org

The museum offers background information about the Holocaust, personal stories of survivors and other information useful to the public and to students, including photographs and videos. There are also links to archives and organizations with relevant oral history and archival collections.

Eisenhower Interstate Highway System

www.fhwa.dot.gov/interstate/homepage.cfm

The Federal Highway Administration's history webpage contains a section devoted to the history of the interstate highway system with photographs and video footage. They also have articles written by Richard F. Weingroff, a historian for the agency. Also useful is a page debunking myths that have surrounded the interstate highways.

CIA--The World Factbook

<https://www.cia.gov/library/publications/the-world-factbook/index.html>

<https://www.cia.gov/library/publications/historical-collection-publications/index.html>

The Central Intelligence Agency houses a site with maps of nations around the world, country profiles, current world leaders, and publications on topics relating to CIA and intelligence history, including many Cold War topics.

Kansas State Historical Society

http://www.kshs.org/portal\_research

The Kansas State Historical Society web site offers the finding aids to their collections, genealogical resources, digitized Kansas newspapers, and online documents in the Kansas Memory section.

Eisenhower National Historic Site—Gettysburg

www.nps.gov/eise/index.htm

This National Park Service Site at the Eisenhower Farm offers short articles on Ike and Mamie at Gettysburg. They also have an online exhibit of photographs and artifacts relating to their life at Gettysburg.

Brown v. Board of Education National Historic Site

www.nps.gov/brvb/index.htm

This National Park Service Site provides background information on the court cases that lead up to Brown v. Board, with online copies of the court decisions. There are also related photographs and multimedia presentations.

Little Rock Central High School National Historic Site

<http://www.nps.gov/chsc/index.htm>

This National Park Service Site provides background information on the desegregation case, include video segments of oral history interviews in their collections, a timeline, and publications written about various aspects of the incident.

Chronicling America: American Historical Newspapers

<http://chroniclingamerica.loc.gov/>

This Library of Congress web site holds online copies of newspapers from most states and the District of Columbia from 1836-1922. The collection includes newspapers in several languages and serving a number of ethnic communities.