Boyhood Home:

A typical 19th Century home, the Eisenhower family occupied this house from 1898 to 1946 until Mrs. Ida Eisenhower's death in 1946.

Museum: Built by the Eisenhower Foundation with funds raised through public gifts, the museum is constructed of Kansas limestone.

Statue

Place of Meditation:

This is the final resting place of Dwight, Mamie, and their first-born son Doud Dwight Eisenhower.

Library:

The Eisenhower Library is a working research library. The second floor gallery features changing exhibits.
